

Fay Weldon, one of the most successful advertising copywriters of her generation, is now recognized as one of our most important and distinctive literary voices. She published her first novel, A Fat Woman's Joke, in 1976, and has gone on to write over thirty novels, as well as short stories and screenplays. In 1983, she wrote The Life and Loves of a She Devil. The story of Ruth, taking delicious revenge on her cheating husband Bobbo, has become a modern classic, adapted for film and television and recently serialised on Radio 4.

In 2001 Fay was awarded a CBE for services to literature. She teaches creative writing at Bath Spa University and lives on a hilltop in Dorset.

Death of a She Devil

Fay Weldon

'The women of the world gave up romance, subservience and submission, and once empowered, took to hard work, truth and reality. Much good has it done them.'

Ruth Patchett, the original She Devil, is now eighty-four and keen to retire. But who can take up her mantle?

Enter Tyler Patchett, our new kind of heroine and Ruth's grandson. He's an ultra-confident, twenty-three-year-old man: beautiful, resentful and unemployed. Tyler won't be satisfied until he can transition into the ultimate symbol of power and status. A woman.

In Fay Weldon's 1983 classic, The Life and Loves of a She Devil, women fought men for power and won. In 2017, men take a decisive step to get their power back...
